

TriDerma Collaborates With American Childhood Cancer Organization To Support The Fight Against Childhood Cancer

August 25, 2015 by TCAdmin

0 Comment

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact:

Shannon White

shannon@boltpr.com

(949) 701 -3443

Natural Skin Care Line To Donate Percentage of Sales to National Organization

CORONA, California – July 20, 2015 – TriDerma®, a line of true skin care products made with Certified Genuine Virgin Organic Aloe and other carefully selected botanicals to heal a variety of skin problems, announced today its collaboration with the American Childhood Cancer Organization, in honor of National Childhood Cancer Awareness Month celebrated in September. TriDerma will donate 20 percent of their sales on five of their specialty products, each hand selected for the different ways they can benefit and help cancer stricken children, between August and October 2015. The five products selected include:

- Baby Feet® Ultimate Foot Cream: This cream smoothes, softens, moisturizes, and helps protect against dry, cracked, rough, and callused feet.
- Everyday Bruise Relief™: Fast healing and soothing relief for bruises, itching and redness on even the most delicate skin.
- Post Laser Aloe & Zinc Occlusive™: This creamy occlusive helps provide fast healing and soothing relief for delicate skin following a cosmetic, surgical or aesthetic procedure. It hydrates and helps relieve skin tightness, scabbing, itching, burning and redness. It helps tender skin recover faster.

- Radiation Skin Relief™ Fast Healing Cream: Helps soothe, heal and minimize the damaging side effects from radiation therapy. Daily use of the Radiation Skin Relief™ Fast Healing Cream helps soothe itching, peeling, redness, burning and the appearance of skin discoloration, a perfect gift for anyone living with radiation side effects or generally damaged skin.
- Scar Block® for Kids: Helps prevent and minimize scarring for new and existing scars and helps skin irritations heal faster. This cream can be used after stitches are removed, for a gentle, yet powerful medical strength healing.

“TriDerma is extremely honored to collaborate with the American Childhood Cancer Organization,” said Tess Fox, director of marketing for TriDerma. “We offer products that heal and soothe a variety of skin irritations because they are free of damaging chemicals, cortisone, steroids and parabens so that clients of all ages, skin types and conditions can use them.”

TriDerma is available in major drugstores nationwide and on www.triderma.com. The products benefiting the American Childhood Cancer Organization can be seen here www.triderma.com/charitable-partnerships. To see TriDerma’s complete skin care offerings, please visit <http://www.triderma.com/products.html>. For more information about American Childhood Cancer Organization, or to make a donation, please visit <http://www.acco.org>.

About TriDerma

TriDerma® is a line of true skin care products made with Certified Genuine Virgin Organic Aloe, moisturizers, and other carefully selected botanicals to target and help heal a wide variety of skin problems. In its mission to create the perfect healing formulations for specific irritations, TriDerma’s true products are made using only the finest quality, hand-selected ingredients. TriDerma stays true to its medical heritage, providing powerful formulas that work to help those that struggle, both emotionally and physically, with hard-to-heal skin problems. TriDerma is a woman-owned, family company, which now has more than 100 product SKUs that are sold nationally and internationally. For more information, please visit www.triderma.com.

About American Childhood Cancer Organization

The American Childhood Cancer Organization is one of the largest national, grassroots organizations standing at the forefront of the battle against childhood cancer. Founded by parents who have faced this challenge themselves, and joined by a national community of families and survivors, the ACCO is uniquely committed to improving the lives of children and families living with cancer and its long-term side effects, as well as bringing ever-greater awareness to the need for new, more effective treatments appropriate for cancer’s youngest warriors. From providing the highest quality resources designed for children and families, to coordinating local assistance to families in need, to leading national (and even international) advocacy campaigns for greater awareness and ever-more research, the ACCO is dedicated to giving every child facing childhood cancer a fighting chance at a healthy, happy future.

###