This year, the American Childhood Cancer Organization (ACCO) celebrates its 50th anniversary of shaping policy, supporting research, raising awareness, and providing educational resources and innovative programs to children with cancer, survivors, and their families.

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic, we are hosting our first virtual auction to raise funds to continue supporting our nation's youngest cancer warriors and their families. Now, more than ever, every dollar matters. Cancer doesn't take a break and neither can we.

Please consider bidding on one of our exciting auction items or making a donation. To learn more about our mission and how we are supporting these warriors, please visit our website at https://www.acco.org/.

We appreciate your support in making this event a success... because kids can't fight cancer alone!®

Meet Pryce.

A 5 year old cancer warrior. He loves legos, coloring and of course, his brothers and sisters.

ACCO was lucky enough to meet Pryce and his family last year after engagement on social media. Pryce's fun personality and funny pictures compelled us to reach out. Pryce is the youngest of five children and spunky to say the least!

Leading up to Pryce’s diagnosis, he had low grade fevers and leg and hip pain. Pryce's mom, Katie remembers, “we were blindsided. Cancer was not even on our radar.” The doctors continued to run tests for a few days and Katie remembers the concern on their faces. He was diagnosed in August of 2018 with stage 4 neuroblastoma.

Treatment for Pryce included 10 rounds of chemotherapy and 8 rounds of immunotherapy. He went through 12 rounds of radiation, 2 stem cell transplants and multiple surgeries. During the last stage of treatment, the doctors found that his cancer had spread to his brain. On January 29, 2020 Pryce underwent emergency brain surgery. The doctors removed a golf ball size tumor, followed by intense treatment. Since January, Pryce has received 3 rounds of chemotherapy and 12 rounds of radiation to his brain and spine.

The next phase of Pryce’s treatment will be in New York, however it has been put on hold due to the coronavirus. Currently, he is undergoing extra rounds of chemo to keep the disease stable until it is safe to travel. His next brain surgery will be to place an Ommaya port.

Through all of his treatments, Pryce has a smile on his face. He spends time FaceTiming his brothers and sisters because he misses them so much. He is a silly little boy who loves to play with his siblings and build legos (he's built more than 300 sets since his diagnosis). Cancer does not define Pryce and he doesn’t let it hold him back.

Pryce’s 5th birthday was May 2, 2020 and his family organized a parade in his honor. Since Pryce’s wish trip to meet Mickey Mouse was postponed, the family thought this might help him celebrate in a magical way.

– Update, September 2020–

Pryce has been battling stage IV neuroblastoma since August 2018. He had clear scans in August 2019; but right before the end of his treatment protocol, he relapsed. At first they believed it was disease in his skull, but they later realized it was a CNS (brain/spinal) relapse. Pryce had emergency brain surgery in January 2020 to remove a golf ball size tumor. After surgery, radiation, and chemo; his brain/CNS was clear again. His family traveled to NYC for an experimental treatment to keep his CNS clear, but before he could begin treatment, Pryce had relapsed for a second time. Pryce is currently back in Michigan undergoing a treatment that combines chemo and immunotherapy. He’ll do two rounds and then rescan to see if the treatment is working. Amazon selected Pryce to be an Amazon + ACCO Ambassador in late August and you can find downloadable content here to share about Pryce today.
